Petitions to revive under 37 CFR 1.137(a) or (b), or requests to withdraw the holding of abandonment under 37 CFR 1.181, should be promptly filed to minimize any negative effects on patent term.

Applicant states that July 14, 2004 Office action should not have been final.

Applicant contends that while the "final" box was checked on the PTO-326 form none the usual wording appeared at the end of the Office action. Applicant, further contends he spoke with Examiner Steven Varner and Supervisory Patent Examiner who indicated that the Office should not have been final and that an interview summary was going to issued stating such.

Since the Office action mailed July 14, 2004 had the "final" box checked on the PTO-326 form the action is considered to be a final rejection. Any challenge to the prematureness of the finality of the Office action should have been made in writing in applicant's response. It is noted that the amendment received October 15, 2004 in response to the July 14, 2004 Final rejection fails to challenge the finality of the rejection.

37 CFR § 1.2 recites all business with the Patent and Trademark Office should be transacted in writing. The action of the Patent and Trademark Office will be based exclusively on the written record in the Office. No attention will be paid to any alleged oral promise, stipulation, or understanding in relation to which there is disagreement or doubt.

MPEP 706.07(c) recites: any question as to prematureness of a final rejection should be raised, if at all, while the application is still pending before the primary examiner. This is purely a question of practice, wholly distinct from the tenability of the rejection. It may therefore not be advanced as a ground for appeal, or made the basis of complaint before the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. It is reviewable by petition under 37 CFR 1.181. See MPEP § 1002.02(c).

MPEP 706.07(d) states: if, on request by applicant for reconsideration, the primary examiner finds the final rejection to have been premature, he or she should withdraw the finality of the rejection. The finality of the Office action must be withdrawn while the application is still pending. The examiner cannot vacate the final rejection once the application is abandoned.

There is nothing in the written record which indicates that the Office action mailed July 17, 2004 was anything other than a Final rejection, whether proper or not. As the six-month statutory response period has expired this application is abandoned.
